

MILL CITY FARMERS MARKET

Vendor Handbook

Dear Mill City Farmers Market Vendors,

In 2022 we are moving into our 17th Outdoor Season and reflecting on the ways this market has changed through the years. We continue to cultivate and grow the market, and educate our community about healthy, local food and small businesses, and the diversity of farmers and makers who create it. This would not have been possible without our supportive community and amazing vendors.

We accomplish great things in conjunction with our community and volunteers. Mill City Farmers Market operates with a balanced mix of earned income through booth rental, grants, individual donations and corporate sponsorships. Thanks to the generous support of our community, our fees have not increased since 2010. We consider carefully how we spend our limited resources, a strategy that has helped us forge long-term partnerships with foundations, corporate donors and the community, to support our vendor community and educational programming.

This Vendor Handbook is meant to act as an extensive guide to all parts of Mill City Farmers Market. Please take the time to read it thoroughly and reach out with questions or comments.

Eat well and be well,
Mill City Farmers Market staff

The Mill City Farmers Market is located on Dakota Land.

We are grateful to have our market at this beautiful space with views of the Misi-ziibi, the Ojibwe name for the Great River, or Wakpá Thánka in Dakota. Owamni Omni (St. Anthony Falls) is located just blocks away from the market and has long been a culturally significant place for the Dakota people. You can learn more about the historic and modern importance of this land with the interactive Bdote Memory Map, Native Land Map and Native Governance Center's Dakota Land Map.

We respectfully acknowledge and give thanks to Indigenous people who live here, stewarding this land for generations. We also acknowledge the historical and ongoing legacy of colonialism here, including the cession of this land by the Dakota to the U.S. through the coercive '1851 Treaty with the Sioux.' As a result of this treaty, the federal government imposed genocidal policies and forced removal against Indigenous people as a way to acquire land, which was often used for exploitive agricultural purposes.

Acknowledging the history of this land is a point of reflection for us all as we work towards dismantling colonial practices. We hope these acknowledgments inspire you to stand with us in solidarity of Native nations and support the work of Indigenous-led organizations in our community and food system. Local organizations we follow include:

About Mill City Farmers Market

History:

Mill City Farmers Market (MCFM) was founded in June 2006 by Brenda Langton, whole foods educator, chef and restaurantier, in collaboration with the Mill City Museum to promote “Healthy Foods, Local Farmers”.

Mill City Farmers Market is comprised of a 501(c)(4) non-profit and a 501(c)(3) non-profit that both seek funding from local businesses, corporations, foundations, and individual donors. The (c)(4) is everything it takes to run a farmers market: staff time, equipment, marketing, lease agreements. The Mill City Farmers Market Charitable Fund (MCFM-CF) is a 501(c)(3). This arm of the market strengthens and grows our education around food access, as well as our farmer and maker grant programs.

MCFM Mission:

MCFM inspires and nurtures a healthy community by building a local, sustainable and organic food economy in a vibrant, experiential marketplace.

MCFM Vision:

Our vision is to be a nationally recognized marketplace model that connects, educates and empowers a community to support a healthy, sustainable food system to contribute to the success of local food growers and producers.

MCFM-CF Mission

MCFM Charitable Fund supports a healthier community through partnerships, educational programming, and support for organic farmers and local food producers.

MCFM-CF Vision

Our vision is to grow a just, local, sustainable food system by sharing resources and collaborating with others for the health of our community.

Shared Values:

Inclusion:

We support access to healthy food for all residents of our community.

Stewardship:

We sustain farmers that cultivate the health of land, animals and people.

Integrity:

We ensure the quality of sourcing, production and growing practices of our vendors.

Learning:

We provide experiential opportunities that educate people about the quality, sourcing and true value of food.

Leadership:

We strive to be a leader, innovator and public force for a healthy planet.

Partnership:

We believe authentic, collaborative relationships are essential to achieving our vision.

Community:

We promote a thriving and inclusive gathering place that bridges our agricultural heritage in a National Historic Landmark.

Culture:

We value local entrepreneurs and artisans and the ways in which they enrich our community.

Sustainability Statement

As part of the annual application process, all vendors participating in Mill City Farmers Market (MCFM) are expected to read and agree to the following Sustainability Statement.

Local:

MCFM supports local food; food that is fresh, healthy, seasonal and that builds and strengthens local economies. In selecting vendors, MCFM gives priority to regional farmers and producers who bring products to market that are 100% grown and harvested on land they own and/or operate. Occasional non-local exceptions, reviewed on a case-by-case basis, are made for producer-direct products that complement MCFM's mission and fill product gaps.

Sustainable:

MCFM vendors are selected based on their fit with our mission and commitment to environmentally, economically and socially sustainable practices. MCFM supports growers and vendors committed to sustainable practices and land stewardship, including USDA Certified Organic and Certified Naturally Grown growers.

Vendor Commitment:

Each vendor at MCFM is committed to a holistic approach to sustainability that includes:

- Building and maintaining healthy soils by applying farming practices that include crop rotation, compost, cover crops, green manures and reducing tillage
- Serving the health of soil, people and nature by limiting or rejecting the use of synthetic pesticides and fertilizers
- Rejecting the use of GMOs, genetically modified seeds, and genetically modified livestock feed
- Treating livestock humanely by providing pasture for ruminants, access to outdoors and fresh air for all livestock, banning cruel alterations and using no hormones, GMOs, or antibiotics in feed
- Conserving natural resources by reducing erosion and pollution of air, soil and water through responsible farming practices

- Practicing responsible post-harvest handling for all food products to ensure safe products
- Operating within a framework of sound business planning
- Guaranteeing honorable workplace practices, including fair and reasonable compensation for employees and a safe, respectful work environment
- Supporting agricultural markets and infrastructures that enable small farms to thrive
- Producing prepared/processed foods using raw ingredients that are locally grown and sourced from within the market or from other local purveyors practicing sustainable farming, whenever possible. Prepared and processed foods are required to use a minimum of 25% local ingredients in their products (see "Local Sourcing Standard" on next page.
- Producing non-edible products using local and sustainable sourcing as appropriate for the product
- Providing clear, written information about production methods and product ingredients to any customer who requests it

Market Commitment:

MCFM strives for organizationally sustainable practices including maintaining financial stability as well as the integrity and diversity of our vendor/product selection. We examine our waste management practices to reduce our environmental impact. Furthermore, we work in the community to strengthen agricultural infrastructures that enable small farms to thrive and work to develop ways to make local healthy food available to more of our community.

MCFM and our vendors are committed to educating our customers about sustainable, local agriculture as well as encouraging and empowering them to participate actively in their food choices.

MCFM Local Sourcing Standard

Businesses selling value-added foods, baked goods, or prepared food must use a minimum of 25% local products in their ingredients, preferably using local ingredients sourced directly from MCFM agricultural vendors. The percentage will be derived by volume of total ingredients purchased for products sold at MCFM.

MCFM defines “local” as grown within a 250-mile radius of Mill City Farmers Market or your business location. Local is NOT defined as purchasing from a local purveyor - for example purchasing lemons from Co-Op Partners.

Benefits:

1. All vendors make a defined collective commitment to supporting local farmers, agriculture, and the local food economy.
2. Sourcing expectations are defined, thus making it easier to communicate and promote to our customers.
3. This standard sets Mill City Farmers Market apart from other markets in the Twin Cities, further solidifying its identity as a trusted source for local, sustainably produced products.

Exceptions: Certified Organic businesses that cannot source ingredients organically AND locally may be exempt on a case-by-case basis.

Educational Programs and Activities at Mill City Farmers Market

Mill City Farmers Market strives to be an educational marketplace for our customers, while also driving sales for our vendors. Listed below are the important programs and initiatives Market Management supports to create a vibrant food economy for our market customers and vendors. We have been reimagining what our programming will look like after many programs have been canceled or reinvented during the last two seasons due to COVID-19.

Cooking Classes:

Mill City Cooks are our weekly cooking classes hosted by Market Chefs Jenny Breen, Beth Jones and Nettie Colón. These Market Chefs, along with occasional guest chefs, create and demonstrate simple recipes with ingredients from vendors at the market. The goal of this program is to show customers how simple it is to shop the Market for healthy, weekly meals. In 2022 this will be moving to once-a month demos at the market, in addition to our Mill City Cooks Facebook group and video demos.

Recipes from this program continue to be our most popular website, email newsletter and social media content. If you would like to collaborate with the Market Chefs to highlight a recipe featuring your produce or products, let us know. This is a great way to become more involved with the market AND highlight your business!

Power of Produce (PoP!):

The Power of Produce (PoP) Club is a nationally recognized kids' program that started at the Oregon City Farmers Market in 2011 to empower kids to make healthy food choices. Kids ages 3-12 can sample a seasonal fruit or vegetable (bought from a Market farmer) at the information booth. In exchange for trying the weekly vegetable, children receive a $2 PoP token that they may spend on any fruit, vegetable or food-bearing plant at the Market. The goal of Power of Produce is to develop the next generation of healthy eaters and to offer a fun, family activity at the market. This Program was suspended in 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic and inability to provide samples at the market. It will resume in 2022 once a month.

Nutrition Internship

Mill City Farmers Market offers a nutrition internship with a mission to give students practical experience educating themselves and our community on seasonal and local produce. Historically this has been undergraduate students in public health, food systems, nutrition sciences or related fields creating simple, fresh recipes that they sample to encourage customers to eat more vegetables. Sampling was suspended in 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic and inability to provide samples at the market. This program will resume in 2022 with once-a-month sampling at the market. Recipes created through this internship are stored on our website.

Food Donation:

Since 2010 Mill City Farmers Market has been donating produce to the Cedar-Riverside Neighborhood, and in 2014 forged a partnership with Campus Kitchen at Augsburg College to expand the program. In 2021 MCFM Vendors collectively donated a record 16,674 lbs. for the season from participating MCFM farmers. Augsburg College volunteers collect unsold produce from farmers at the end of the day, and the excess produce is distributed in the Cedar-Riverside neighborhood, primarily to seniors in low-income housing. Beginning in 2018, MCFM began monetarily compensating farmers for their donations at a wholesale price of $1 with the help of our program sponsor, Delta Dental of Minnesota. In 2021 MCFM was able to expand this program to purchase produce specifically requested from the community it is going to at higher prices from vendors, to be donated to Cedar-Riverside, Minneapolis Central Kitchen, and other community food programs. This allowed us to increase our produce donations from 6,000lbs in 2019 to 16,774lbs which went a long way in supporting local food access in a very difficult year.

Community Booths:

We offer community booth spaces to different non-profits or small businesses. We partner with organizations that support the Market's mission and vision to educate our customers and promote a healthy lifestyle and community engagement. Partner organizations are generally involved in local and sustainable food, or health and wellness organizations.

Music:

Live music was suspended in 2020 due to the COVID-19 Pandemic and will not be a part of our market this season as we focus on bringing back and growing the programs listed above.

Volunteers:

We love our volunteers! While the majority of the market team (such as our managers and Info Booth staff) are paid employees, volunteers make our Zero Waste composting and recycling program possible. On Saturdays you can find our volunteers at our Zero Waste stations in yellow vests, assisting visitors, record keeping and emptying bins. Please make sure to thank them if you get a chance!

(Advanced discounts will be taken into consideration when calculating refunded fees). *See COVID-19 Policy for exception

Produce & Flower Farmer Credit Policy

Mill City Farmers Market recognizes that produce and flower farmers will sometimes have to cancel market due to seasonal variables out of their control. With this in mind, MCFM will credit vendor booth fees for produce and flower farmers who notify the Program Manager of their absence by the end of the day on Tuesday prior to the Saturday Market. This deadline allows the Program Manager to find a vendor replacement, or factor this change into making the weekly map. The credit will be issued for the following season.

Credits will reflect the amount of money originally paid for the booth fee – for example, if the vendor received a 10% discount for paying by April 15, their credits will be for $31.50 rather than $35 to reflect the 10% discount.

Credits can only be used for future seasons. MCFM will not reimburse payment if a vendor does not return the following year. We do not refund artists, food makers, meat and cheese farmers or prepared food vendors for cancelled dates.

Vendors who cancel their spaces without appropriate notice (defined above) or by no-showing on a market date will be charged in full and are not eligible to receive a refund.

Pet Policy:

Vendors are not allowed to have pets in their booths, per Heath Department regulations.

Market Site Information

ATMs:

The closest ATMs to the market are located inside the Mill City Museum and the Guthrie Theater, when open. The ATMs are both located near their respective gift shops. MCFM Vendor Market Checklist

Please use this checklist as a reminder of some of the rules and policies of the market. This is to help ensure compliance, all rules not outlined here, but have been mentioned above still apply.

General

- All weights are 25 pounds and attached to the canopy. Vendors should not attach their weights to other vendor's booths.
- Booth's name is clearly, and visibly, on display using proper signage.
- Products are clearly labeled with signs or price tags.
- All food is properly labeled according to Minneapolis Health Department standards.

Food Safety

- Food is stored and displayed 6" off the ground or are in closed containers.
- All non-produce items are properly covered or wrapped.
- "Time/temperature control for safety" (TCS) food is stored and displayed in a mechanical refrigerator with the temperature at or below 41°F.
- Calibrated thermometer that can be used to demonstrate temperature is available.
- Hand washing station set up, if sampling is taking place.
- If there is no 3 bin wash system, booth should have extra utensils to use if one should become soiled, and/or changed out after 4 hours of use.

Sampling Safety- Hand washing station must be set up within 10 feet of the business and actively used – there should be water in the catch bucket as evidence it is being used.

- Produce must be washed and clean before it can be sampled.
- Utensils and surfaces that are being used to cut on must be clean before use.
- Samples are covered and protected from potential contaminants when not being actively sampled.
- Sampling designed so customer is only touching their own sample. Customers should not have contact with other samples or sampling supplies to prevent contamination.
- Samples intended for refrigeration are prepared in small batches to prevent the sample from getting to temperatures hazardous to consumption.
- Samples are prepared with assurance no cross-contamination occurred.

Other Information

- Organic certification is clearly posted, if vendor is certified organic.
- When using electricity, cords are covered and out of the way, for public safety.

Current COVID-19 guidelines and setup will be communicated to all vendors prior to the start of the season.

Vendor Compliance and Enforcement

Vendors share responsibility for keeping MCFM viable, ensuring public safety and maintaining the integrity of the Market. By following the rules described in the "Rules of Operation" and the "Vendor Checklist", vendors will remain a “Vendor in Good Standing” and help create a safe, fun and profitable market environment. Violation of the rules will put the vendor “out of compliance” and result in a range of consequences. MCFM staff is committed to working cooperatively with vendors to communicate and resolve non-compliance issues. This section covers the range of consequences of becoming out of compliance with MCFM rules, both on-site during market days (“At-market”) and off-site (“Non-market”).

A few “At-market” examples of non-compliance include:

- Late arrival and not being set up by market opening
- Selling a product that does not meet MCFM's standards for quality
- Parking at a meter during market hours
- Unsafe product storage and handling
- Unsafe or unsatisfactory stall maintenance, e.g. lack of or improper tent weights
- Multiple customer complaints

A few “Non-market” examples of non-compliance include:

- Failing to provide MCFM with timely copies of mandatory licenses, permits and insurance policies
- Failing to pay appropriate stall fees or late payments
- Failing to pay fines imposed due to non-compliance

How MCFM monitors for compliance

- MCFM frequently monitors market activity to ensure that vendors are complying with the rules.
- MCFM also keeps records of “non-market” violations (customer complaints, late payment of fees, etc.) that may put a vendor out of compliance.
- MCFM utilizes the rules and policies started in this handbook as a tool to regulate at-market compliance.

How MCFM enforces the rules

- All rules of the market are enforced by Manager on Duty or Executive Director, who has ultimate on-site authority. Complaints or problems should be directed to the Market Manager in a timely manner.
- Market Management will regularly evaluate vendors using the on-site vendor compliance checklist. MCFM will contact the business owner to address the non-complying behavior and corresponding consequence.

- MCFM reserves the right to visit and inspect the farm or business of any vendor and to request any documents verifying business, gross receipts for percentage fee vendors or employee status.
- Customer complaints will be forwarded to vendors and kept on file. Complaints may result in disciplinary action including removal from the market.
- If a vendor does not abide by any of the rules of MCFM or comply with federal, state, and local regulations applicable to market participation, the Market Management or designee may take any action deemed appropriate, including assessing fines or barring the vendor from selling at the market for that day and any future market days.
- MCFM reserves the right to make exception to these rules and enforcement policies at its discretion.

Consequences of failing to remedy non-compliance

Disciplinary action may take the form of a verbal warning or a written notice of non-compliance that may include a fine, probation or suspension. Multiple fines can lead to probation. Probation puts a vendor on notice that any further violations will lead to suspension. Suspension and eviction from the market may be the result of multiple fines and numerous occasions of suspension. The application of fines, probation and suspension can occur simultaneously while the vendor works to cure a specific or combination of non-compliance actions.

How vendors should remedy a notice of non-compliance

The vendor must correct the verbal warning or notice of non-compliance immediately or by the following week, whichever MCFM determines to be appropriate. If the situation has not been remedied by the following week, the following disciplinary actions may be taken:

- Vendor may be issued a fine.
- Vendor may lose reserved space privilege.
- Vendor may be suspended from the market for a week and forfeit their stall fee.

Three examples of enforcement actions

1. Non-compliance: Vendor fails to attend scheduled market date without communicating with market management.

Consequence:

1st Offense: Booth Fees forfeited plus $25 fine.

2nd Offense: Next market date suspension plus booth fees forfeited.

3rd Offense: Season Suspension plus stall fees forfeited.

2. Non-compliance: A vendor that includes products in their stall not listed on the original MCFM application.

Consequence:

1st offense: Noncompliant product pulled.

2nd offense: 1-week suspension plus stall fees forfeited.

3rd offense: Season suspension plus stall fees forfeited.

3. Non-compliance: Physical violence.

Consequence: Immediate suspension.

NOTE: The list is intended to provide vendors with representative examples of non-compliance and resulting consequences. MCFM management always has discretion in evaluating specific incidences of noncompliance and in applying consequences it deems appropriate.

Vendor Business Types and Licensing

Please use this document to guide your understanding of the Mill City Farmers Market (MCFM) vendor types and standards. Additionally, use this document to inform you of licensing & compliance needs regarding the City of Minneapolis Farmers Market Licensing.

Vendor Business Types:

Definitions of Vendor Business Types:

Farmer/Rancher/Producer:

A person actively involved and invested in the planting, growing, and harvesting of agricultural products on owned, rented, leased or share-cropped land.

Processor:

A person actively involved and invested in the processing of products sold at MCFM. A processor may sell processed farm foods, value-added processed foods, and onsite prepared foods.

Processor for Non-Edible Products:

A person actively involved and invested in the processing of products sold at the MCFM. An example of what a processor of non-edible products may sell is health and beauty care products.

Importer:

A person who does not grow, raise, produce, process or gather the product themselves. This type of vendor sells particular products that cannot be grown, raised, produced, processed or gathered in Minnesota or the surrounding states. These particular products must complement MCFM's mission and will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis. Examples of this are items such as coffee or tea, which cannot be grown in the USA, but are a staple for many.

Product Representative:

A person who does not grow, raise, produce, process or gather the product themselves. This type of vendor sells particular products not otherwise available at the market, but available in the region. (These particular products must complement MCFM's mission, and will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis.)

Wild Harvester:

A person who sells wild-crafted or foraged products such as mushrooms and wild berries gathered from public or private land by the vendor.

Artist/Craftsperson:

A person who designs and creates handmade work. The artist/craftsperson and/or their employees must make all products. The Art Market Review Committee will review all artist applications. Please see page 16 to see who is on the Art Market Review Committee.

Legacy Vendors:

MCFM recognizes the importance of Legacy Vendors at the market. A Legacy Vendor is a vendor who has played an important role in the founding and growth of the Market, but may not adhere to some policies, standards, or expectations that have developed throughout the Market's growth. MCFM acknowledges these vendors' commitment to Mill City Farmers Market and their part in developing and nurturing our vendor and customer communities.

General Rules and Requirements for All Business Types:

- Businesses and products must align with MCFM's mission and complement the market mix.

- Products must demonstrate MCFM's producer-to-consumer values and reflect seasonality.

- Vendors are not allowed to operate under a franchise agreement.

- MCFM does not offer exclusive rights to one specific vendor to sell any specific product. MCFM customers generally benefit from having a choice. However, if MCFM believes the number of vendors offering the same/similar products is excessive, duplications may be denied entry.

- Buying produce from another farmer, wholesaler, store, or other food operation and reselling those products is not permitted at the market, except in special cases. See "Product Representative" on for more details.

- In addition to the specific business guidelines below, it is expected that all vendors read and agree to the Sustainability Statement.

Importer or Product Representative:

- Allowed rarely and under unique circumstances
- For Importers: Products sold are unavailable locally.
- For Product Representatives: Products sold are available locally, but not currently being sold at MCFM.
- Importers and Product Representatives must have a direct relationship with producers.

Vendor Product Review Process

Process for Getting Product Approval:

All current vendors hoping to add a new product to their product offering must provide samples to Market Management and the Vendor Product Review Committee, at least one week prior to the desired sale date, for approval. Once samples are dropped off, Market Management, along with the Vendor Product Review Committee, will review the new products and respond to the request in a timely manner.

Market Management and the Vendor Product Review Committee will periodically review existing products sold by current vendors to ensure consistent quality, address customer comments, and ensure staff familiarity with all products sold at MCFM.

How New Products Are Judged:

All products will be reviewed and judged by Market Management and the Vendor Product Review Committee. Please refer to MCFM's expectations regarding ingredient sourcing and production philosophy located in the Vendor Business Types and Licensing section as well as the Sustainability Statement.

- Preference is given to locally produced products.
- Preference is given to Artisan Quality products, defined as: unique & handmade products of high quality.
- Preference is given to products that support a healthy lifestyle: products that use whole grains, fresh ingredients, and minimize the use of sugars, fats and salts. No product containing artificial ingredients or flavors, dyes, trans fats, corn syrup, or GMO ingredients may be sold at MCFM.
- Product packaging will be judged on product presentation, aesthetics, low environmental impact, and adherence to any legal labeling requirements (weight, ingredient, etc.). All ready to eat food sold or sampled must be served in compostable packaging that is BPI certified for industrial composting facilities.
- Product quality is expected to remain consistent at every market. This means products should be fresh, flavorful, attractively displayed, and of high quality. MCFM

Management and the Vendor Product Review will review this on a regular basis after a product is admitted to the market.

Alternative Currencies

The Mill City Farmers Market uses several types of tokens as alternative currency. These currencies allow vendors to operate without accepting credit cards at their stands, to provide food access to customers with SNAP benefits and to increase sales for our vendors.

EBT/SNAP Program:

EBT/SNAP tokens are only available in $1 increments. These tokens are green and you are not allowed to give change for them. There are very specific guidelines for the items customers may purchase with these tokens. Please see the list below.

Market Bucks Program:

Market Bucks come in paper cards. They should be treated the same as EBT/SNAP tokens. They are only available in $1 increments. You are not allowed to give change for these. There are also very specific guidelines for the items that customers may purchase with these tokens. Please see the list below.

Households Can Use EBT/SNAP Benefits

to Buy: - Breads (wrapped, labeled, and intended for home consumption) and cereals
- Dairy products
- Fruits and vegetables
- Jams and sauces
- Maple and honey products
- Meats, fish, and poultry
- Seeds and plants that produce food for the household to eat

Households Cannot Use EBT/SNAP

Benefits to Buy: _____

- Any nonfood items:
- Food that will be eaten on-site (prepared foods, pastries etc.)
- Household supplies
- Medicines and vitamins
- Pet foods
- Soaps, paper products

Specialty Items:

Pumpkins are edible and eligible for purchase with SNAP benefits. However, non-edible gourds and pumpkins used solely for ornamental purposes are not eligible items.

Gift baskets containing food and non-food items are not eligible for purchase with SNAP benefits when the value of the non-food items exceeds 50 percent of the purchase price.

Credit and Debit Cards Tokens:

Credit/Debit card tokens are available in $5 increments. These tokens are gray and you are allowed to give cash change. The tokens can be used to purchase any item at the market. A $2 convenience fee is charged for each transaction.

PoP! Tokens:

Power of Produce or PoP! is a program designed to empower kids to make healthy food choices and introduce them to where their food comes from. Children from 5-12 can come to the PoP! booth each week at the market and try the fruit/veggie being sampled to get a $2 token. This token may be spent on any fruit, veggie or food-bearing plant at the market. These tokens are red and you are NOT allowed to give change.

Reimbursements will NOT be given to vendors who mistakenly accept these tokens. Always inspect tokens carefully when they are handed to you.

Farmers Market Nutrition Program (FMNP) and WIC Vouchers:

FMNP and WIC vouchers are federally funded supplemental nutrition programs for pregnant and breastfeeding women, and children up to 5 years old. This alternative currency is available in check or voucher form. Vendors must register with the state to accept either of these vouchers and, if accepted, will go through a thorough training process every few years. Please let Market Management know if you are interested in accepting these forms of currency or have any questions on it.

Vendor Reimbursement Process:

You may submit tokens to the info booth staff at the beginning or end of the day. Tokens may only be submitted once a day. Reimbursement checks are written every two weeks. Mill City Farmers Market asks vendors submit tokens as often as possible in order to help us keep tokens in circulation.

Please direct any questions about the Alternative Currency Program to:

- Sarah Holle: (p) 612.207.6603 (e) sarah@millcityfarmersmarket.org.

Zero Waste Program

Vendors play a critical role in supporting the success of the composting and zero waste program at the Mill City Farmers Market. Aspen Waste Systems has partnered with Mill City Farmers Market on these programs and has many resources available. By supporting composting and the zero waste program, the market will greatly reduce its waste and show customers how waste can be preventable, instead of inevitable.

Instructions for Successful Composting:

What Can be Composted:

Plant or animal-based material → All food and paper that cannot be recycled

Examples: Paper plates, napkins, paper towels, waxed boxes

What Cannot be Composted:

No plastic, Styrofoam, glass, metal, hot drink containers from other non-MCFM coffee vendors

Compostable Products:

Mill City Farmers Market requires all ready to eat food sold or sampled on site to be served in compostable packaging. As a vendor, you'll show customers how you're part of the solution for zero waste by creating great food and a way for them to minimize waste.

Please note:

Any bio-based plastic products purchased (clear compostable clear cups for cold drinks or compostable utensils) need to be certified by the Biodegradable Products Institute (BPI). This certification ensures products have been scientifically tested and are fully compostable - not all products currently being marketed as "green" are actually compostable. Look for the BPI logo (shown here) or visit www.bpiworld.org for a complete list of certified products.

Paper cups, paper boats, soy-based wax paper*, plain wood toothpicks (no plastic frills), and other items made from natural materials may also be used.

*Many wax coated paper products are made with a combination of wax and plastic.

Refer to the BPI website to ensure your containers are compostable.

Presentation: How to create a beautiful booth

Effective booth display will increase sales! Consider these tips while designing your booth:

- Take advantage of all your space. If you have a lot of product, consider a U or L shaped display in your booth that encourages customers to enter the space to peruse. This setup gives you more surface area to display your products and more face time with a customer.
- Use height, width and depth to maximize space. Try using a rack or shelf to display products.
- Clearly label your products and their prices.
- Don't have a fancy table for display? No problem! Cover it up with an easy-to-clean oilcloth or a cotton tablecloth to elevate the look of your booth.
- Use baskets to display items. They are easy to restock and make product look abundant. Try hiding icepacks under produce to keep vegetables looking fresh and crisp throughout the day.
- Consider the wind! MCFM is in an extremely windy location. Make sure your booth display is anchored and safe for you and customers if a mighty gust blows in.
- Be sure to have a clear and relatively large sign displaying your business name so customers will be able to easily identify and find you. Hang the sign on your tent or the train shed wall as a backdrop to your booth, or brand your popup tent.
- MCFM encourage farmers and makers to display their growing/processing location.

At Market Tips

Staffing the Booth

- Having one person working in your booth is good, but more than two is usually too many.
- Never leave your booth unattended.
Always face the customers, even when chatting with your business partners. Look and be cheerful. If you aren't a "people person," consider having another person from your business staff your market stall.

Shade and Coolers

- Pay attention to where the sun is going to be and arrange your stall accordingly.
- If you don't have enough shade for everything, put the most sensitive products in the shadiest spots
- Put out small quantities of any products which will wilt. Keep the rest in coolers with ice.
- Have side panels for your canopy for rainy or windy days.

How much product should you bring?

- Only experience can answer this question—You never want to sell out! (You also don't want to have a lot of unsold product left over at the end of the day)
- Full, abundant tables are the most attractive to customers.
- Keep records of what you take to the market and what is left at the end.

Pricing & Communicating Prices

- Have a price tag for every product, and make sure the tag stays with the product
- Don't put items with different prices in the same basket—it's confusing.
- People will rarely ask for the price. If they can't tell immediately what the price is, they are unlikely to buy the product.

How to determine what price to charge customers?

- Feel confident that your product is the best available and you can charge accordingly.
- Don't devalue your hard work: you need to cover your expenses, pay yourself, and make a profit
- Pay a visit to the grocery store and see what they are charging for similar products
- Find out what other vendors are charging. Don't undercut them.
- Avoid lowering prices at the end of the market (you will teach customers bad habits).
- It can be a good strategy to offer a bargain (or a bonus product) for a large purchase.

Handling the Money

- Bring adequate change – usually at least $100 – in fives, ones, and coins. Mill City Farmers Market cannot give out change to vendors.
- Consider pricing in nothing smaller than quarters.
- Consider pricing items per unit (per bunch or per pint), to make it easier for shoppers to determine prices. This is especially helpful for market shoppers who may be shopping with tokens.

Sampling-when permitted

- Sampling is a great way to engage your customers and is part of the fun of dynamic market experience.
- It is essential that you follow the City of Minneapolis Health Department guidelines for safe sampling.

- Use your handwashing station frequently to keep your hands clean, and don't be the one to handle the money if you are offering samples. Make sure to bring your own trashcan with a compostable bag if your sampling will be generating waste (ie toothpicks).

Educating Customers

- If you have unusual products, be prepared to explain what they are and how to use them. Recipe cards are a great idea, or a website with recipes and links to more information.
- Be ready to describe your farming practices. If you are not Certified Organic or Certified Naturally Grown, explain to customers that your growing practices fit MCFM's Sustainability Statement, and what that means.
- Be ready with an answer if a customer asks why your prices are higher than the grocery store.
- Communicate with the Market chefs if you have a product you would like to have highlighted in the cooking demos.
- Be prepared to explain the qualities of different varieties. If a customer asks which is the best, encourage them to try them all so they can decide which they like best!
